TRIBUTE TO PIONEER

'M' Dinner Tonight Honors Late Mrs. C. H. Kleinstueck

Honor guests at the recognition dinner which will honor the late Mrs. Caroline Hubbard Kleinstueck at the University of Michigan this evening are many members of the Kleinstueck family, all graduates of the University of Michigan.

They include Mrs. 'M' Kleinstueck's three daughters, Miss Irene Kleinstueck, who was graduated from the school of literature in 1906; Mrs. Carl B. Blankenburg (Lit. 1909 and Law, 1911); and Mrs. Otto Ihling (Lit. 1915); her sons-in-law, Judge Blankenburg (Law, 1909); and Mr. Ihling (Lit., 1909); a granddaughter, Miss Dorothy Blankenburg (Lit. 1938); a grandniece, Mrs. Paul Ihling (Lit. 1917), all of Kalamazoo, Miss Barbara Blankenburg, Grand Rapids, who expects to enter the university's class of 1922, will also be present.

A son, C. Hubbard Kleinstueck, and Mrs. Kleinstueck, will be unable to attend the ceremonies.

Kleinstueck House is one of four units of the new women's residence hall on the U. of M. campus, to be dedicated today. During the after-dinner program in the lounge of Kleinstueck House the Kleinstueck family will present a colored photograph of Caroline Hubbard Kleinstueck taken during her senior year at the university in 1875.

A pioneer in women's education, the late Mrs. Kleinstueck was a member of the second class of women to complete the four-year course at the state university. A sketch of her life will be given by Miss Mary Lou Bramwell, Toledo, Ohio, and Mrs. Blankenburg will respond with anecdotes about her mother's college life.

Other Kalamazoo guests at the dinner will include Walfred Connable, Jr., a regent of the university; and Mrs. Connable.
