School of Music

One of the most visible and respected academic units at Western Michigan University – an institution with a student enrollment of more than 25,000 including over 5,000 at the graduate level, the School of Music has 475 majors, 40 faculty members, and 30 graduate assistants. It offers some of the finest music rehearsal, study, practice, and performance facilities in the nation. For more information regarding the School of Music, its facilities, faculty, ensembles, and programs, visit our website at www.wmich.edu/music.

Therapy Program

Western Michigan University's music therapy program is one of the oldest in the nation, and one of a select number offering graduate study in music therapy. Classes are held in beautiful Dalton Center, which includes a fully-equipped Music Therapy Clinic featuring audio and visual monitoring facilities. The graduate program stresses examination of current research and issues affecting the clinical, academic, and professional preparation of music therapists. The Director of Music Therapy is Professor Brian L. Wilson, MT-BC. Other music therapy faculty members include Professor Ed Roth, MT-BC; and Dr. David S. Smith.
