Why Michigan Should Worry About Louisiana’s Fight for Coastal Survival

Tuesday, Oct. 24 at 6 p.m.
WMU Humanities Center

Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist Bob Marshall offers a one-hour presentation on the national environmental and economic crises in the Gulf of Mexico coastal region of the U.S. – and why the rest of the country must pay attention.

Sponsored by the School of Communication and the 2017-2018 Institute of the Environment and Sustainability Gwen Frostic Speaker Series