Application deadline for spring 2018 programs:

October 16, 2017

• Minimum eligibility requirements for Department of World Languages and Literatures scholarships and awards are on the back of this page.

• If you wish to be considered for these scholarships and awards, submit your completed application, including typed essay, prior to the deadline listed.

• Only one application is necessary to be considered for ALL awards and scholarships (pending eligibility requirements for each individual award or scholarship).

• If you are not selected for one award or scholarship, you will automatically be considered for the other awards and scholarships offered by the department.

• Students CAN apply for scholarships and awards given during the semester in which they are already studying abroad.
Available Scholarships:

1. The Diether Haenicke Award for Study Abroad

2. The Diether Haenicke Scholarship for Study Abroad in fall and spring semesters
   (multiple scholarships available)

Eligibility for all scholarships and awards:

- Students must be currently enrolled full-time at WMU.
- Enroll in an approved program of language study at a university outside of the United States or in a study abroad program sponsored by an American university. The purpose of study is to improve language skills.
- The applicant must enroll in a study abroad program whose credits are transferable to WMU and which is approved by both the Scholarship and Award committee as well as the travel and study abroad advisor of the relevant language section.
- Recipients must study abroad during the semester indicated by the specific award or scholarship (i.e. studying abroad during the fall semester for the Diether Haenicke Award for Study Abroad in fall and spring semesters).
- Students must demonstrate that they have, at the time of application, the proficiency level required by the study abroad program in which they wish to participate. (For proficiency level requirements, please see the faculty advisor of the specific language program in which you are interested.)
- Overall GPA as well as the GPA of their language courses taken will be taken into account for scholarship and award selection.
- Awards must be used within one year.

Other factors being equal, preference will be given to those who:

- have a declared major of French, German, Japanese, or Latin OR a declared minor of Arabic or Chinese.
- enroll in a WMU-sponsored program.
- enroll in a language-intensive program outside of the North-American continent.
- have studied within their particular language section for at least two semesters at WMU.
- intend to study in a full-year program.

After Application Submission

- An interview with the award committee may be required. If needed, interviews will be held for finalists within two weeks of the application deadline. Any student selected for an interview will be contacted by the department via phone or WMU email.

- Results will be announced by the Department of World Languages and Literatures as soon as possible following applicant interviews.

- Any funds accepted by the student which are not subsequently used for study abroad in an approved program must be returned to the department.

- Based on your individual financial situation, the Office of Financial Aid will determine whether these funds will go toward payment of any outstanding bills, the reduction of pre-existing student loans, or disbursed to you.

- If you are not selected for one award or scholarship, you will automatically be considered for the other awards and scholarships offered by the department.
