University of Passau, Germany

Established in the 1970s, the University of Passau is one of Germany's newest universities and currently enrolls approximately 9,000 students. Its location in the city of Passau, a popular tourist destination, is idyllic--a beautiful Bavarian city situated at the confluence of three rivers featuring many historic buildings and cultural offerings. The university's motto is: "Studieren wo andere Urlaub machen (Study where others go on vacation)." WMU students receive highly personalized service from the American Studies Dept.

The secretary, Eva Riedler, grew up in Chicago and enjoys personally assisting a handful of U.S. students each year. Opportunities to become immersed in German life, both socially and linguistically, are plentiful. WMU students interested in this exchange program may be able to contact students from the host institution currently studying at WMU.
