

Educating students with emotional and behavioral disorders: The challenge of inclusion COLLOQUIUM

Friday, March 20th

4pm- 5pm

Sangren Hall 1910

Presented by Dr. Matthew Hoge

Dr. Hoge will focus on challenges and strategies for educating students with emotional and behavioral disorders in less restrictive educational settings (e.g. the general education classroom). This presentation will highlight “who these students are,” “what services they typically receive,” “what can be done to improve outcomes” and “why improving outcomes is so important.” The presentation will be supported by Dr. Hoge’s research on barriers to inclusion as well as his professional experience as a behavioral consultant.

Brought to you by:

