

Department of Psychology

Brown Bag Discussion

How do we train lay providers in low resource settings? A closer look at the Apprenticeship Model of Training and Supervision

Laura Murray, Ph.D.

Alumni Achievement Award Recipient 2017

Associate Scientist, Clinical Psychologist

Johns Hopkins University Bloomberg School of Public Health

This brown bag presentation will present the apprenticeship model for lay counselor training and supervision in mental health treatments in LMIC, developed and used in a range of mental health intervention studies conducted over the last decade in various low-resource settings. It will include a description of the elements of this approach, the underlying logic, and provide examples drawn from our experiences working in 12 countries, with over 100 lay counselors. Methods to assess fidelity within this model will be reviewed, as well as ratings to track competency.

Friday, Oct. 13, 2017

3715 Wood

12 p.m.