Comprehensive Behavioral Intervention for Tic and Tourettes

Doug Woods, Ph.D.

Dean/Tic and OCD-Spectrum Clinic Operator

Marquette University

Comprehensive Behavioral Intervention for Tics (CBIT) is a behavioral intervention for Tic and Tourette related behaviors. This behavioral evidence-based treatment is one of the most effective in treating Tic and Tourette related disorders in the world and is widely recognized and utilized across the world. Dr. Woods is a Western Michigan University Alumni and has trained multiple professionals across the world in both CBIT and Habit Reversal Therapy (HRT). Dr. Woods currently operates the Tic and OCD-Spectrum Disorders Clinic at Marquette University and is the current dean of the Marquette University Graduate School.
