The Institute of the Environment and Sustainability, the Department of Political Science, and the Climate Change Working Group presents

"Workshop on Using the National Surveys on Energy and the Environment in Your Research and in Your Classroom"

Dec. 7, 2018
9:30 - 11 a.m.
University Center for Humanities
2500 Knauss
Reception to follow
OPEN TO ALL

Directed by Barry Rabe, The Center for Local, State and Urban Policy (CLOSUP) conducts applied academic research to inform local, state, and urban policy issues, serving as an information resource for policymakers and practitioners. The National Surveys on Energy and Environment (NSEE), is an on-going biannual national opinion survey on energy and climate policy.

Goals of the workshop are to learn how you can:
1) conduct, support, and foster applied academic research that informs local, state, and urban policy
2) facilitate student learning and engagement with critical policy issues
