

Part-Time Faculty Seminar Series

What it is:

This year-long series of workshops will provide valuable pedagogical training and professional development – all while enjoying a regular free lunch at the Bernhard Center. It is aimed at part-time faculty, who are seeking a comprehensive program that refines their skills and offers useful strategies to better serve and engage with their students. You may enroll in workshops during a semester you are not employed as long as you are working for WMU during the academic year.

What will I earn?:

By the end of the 2019-2020 academic year, assuming good attendance (See OFD PFS page for minima), you will have earned a certificate signed by the Provost and Director of the Office of Faculty Development that can be applied toward promotional considerations (i.e., increased compensation and/or Instructor II status application) within your academic unit. There will also be a book raffle for some of the texts referenced in the seminar series.

Topics include ( = New):

- Mental Health: Response and Support
- EUP: Online, Hybrid, & Web-enhanced Courses
- Active Learning Strategies
- Managing Difficult Students/Academic Dishonesty
- University Library Services & Information Literacy
- Teaching College Writing: Across Disciplines
- Teaching Portfolio: Documenting Effectiveness
- Assessment of Student Learning
- Diversity and Cultural Competencies [DCC] – See OFD Part-time Faculty Seminar webpage for full list.
