

When you see “Activities require your attention” on top of a section, it means that at least one of the items in the section needs you to review its status.

Activities require your attention ? Help ogy or innovations in instruction, with a brief, clear description of what you did. Was this change based on assessment of student may be in the areas of academic, clinical, creative/artistic, or research teaching, and may include emerging pedagogy or technologies, e learning or other experiences.) If you have more than one course to enter, please click "Save and Add Another".

Start Semester ^	End Semester ^	Actions
Fall 2016	Ongoing	<input checked="" type="radio"/> Ongoing Activity <input type="radio"/> Activity Ended

If it is still on going, you can just click “Update.”

Update

Activities require your attention ? Help

rief, clear description of what you did. Was this change based on assessment of student learning outcomes (e.g., for the course or program)? (This may be in gogy or technologies, experiential learning, li.) If you have more than one course to enter,

If the activity has ended, you should select “Activity Ended,” and select the end semester and year. Then, click the Update button, and the red-background text will disappear.

Start Semester ^	End Semester ^	Actions
Summer II	2018	<input type="radio"/> Ongoing Activity <input checked="" type="radio"/> Activity Ended

Update