In this class we look at the following types of questions:

- How do we deal with risks facing our health?
- Why is health insurance so expensive?
- How do we get people to make healthier lifestyle choices?
- Should and how may the U.S. reform its health care system?
- Do other countries have “better” healthcare systems than we do?
- What should governments role be in providing health care?
- Do we spend too much on health care for the elderly?

- This course is currently being offered once per year, spring semester
- This course is being offered in a hybrid format, typically meeting face to face just one 50 minute period per week
- This course is not only of interest to Arts & Sciences majors, but also students in Health and Human Services, Business or to anyone with a strong health interest
