How Your Radio Could Save Your Life

Living in this crazy world, you never know when something life threating could happen at work. Be prepared for any situation by understanding and using the emergency response button on your radio. This is the orange button on your radio. You should push that button whenever you feel you are in danger or if there is an emergency, and here's why!

When This Button is Pushed

1. Sends your location to Department of Public Safety

2. Turns on your microphone so the Department of Public Safety can hear anything that's going on

3. Allows DPS to talk to you

4. Sends an officer to your location for help

5. When accidentally pressed hold down the orange button and it will turn off the emergency signal
