The Cheryl Lyon-Jenness Advanced Undergraduate Writing Award

The Cheryl Lyon-Jenness Advanced Undergraduate writing award honors student papers exceeding 4,000 words that fall under the broad rubric of research papers. This includes senior theses, historiographical works, material culture or museum related pieces, methodological/theoretical analyses, and critical review essays. Only papers prepared for courses taken or completed during the previous calendar year will be considered. The recipient of the Cheryl Lyon-Jenness writing award receives a stipend of $350.

The deadline for submissions is February 10. Deliver this completed application and a hardcopy of your essay directly to the Undergraduate Advising Office (4452 Friedmann Hall); materials may also be dropped off in 4301 Friedmann Hall to the main office.

Name: _______________________________ Win #: _______________________________

Essay Title: ______________________________________________________________________________________

Paper Originally Submitted For: ___________________ Course Completed: ___________

Course Number or Title Semester / Year