

Climate Change & Our Community

READ TOGETHER

“. . . the most momentous and contentious environmental book since Silent Spring”

— New York Times Book Review

Climate change, as best-selling author Naomi Klein argues, is a civilizational wake-up call, a powerful message delivered in the language of fires, floods, storms, and droughts.

Confronting it is no longer about changing the light bulbs. It's about changing the world—before the world changes so drastically that no one is safe. Either we leap—or we sink.

Can't afford to buy a copy?

- Visit the Kalamazoo Public Library!
- Pay-It-Forward campaign has placed several free copies in the hands of students and community members, ask a friend if they have a copy!
- Contact Dr. Denise Keele, WMU Climate Change Study Group Representative, to see if we can find you one! 269-387-5686 • denise.keele@wmich.edu

DISCUSS TOGETHER

Please join a community discussion, facilitated by WMU faculty and students that will explore the social causes and responses to climate change.

Local climate leaders will provide an opportunity for participants to learn about and connect with Kalamazoo initiatives.

Leave with ways to ACT TOGETHER!

Thursday April 9th

6:00 to 8:30pm

Van Duesen Room

Kalamazoo Public Library

315 S Rose St.

Kalamazoo MI

Light Fare Provided

THANK YOU CO-SPONSORS! WMU Interdisciplinary Humanities Group for the Study of Climate Change • College of Arts & Sciences • Lee Honors College • Environmental & Sustainability Studies Program • Center for Sustainable Business Practices • Students for Sustainable Earth • Office for Sustainability • Kalamazoo Public Library