STUDIES IN ICONOGRAPHY

Studies in Iconography (ISSN 0148-1029) is an annual publication housed at the Index of Medieval Art at Princeton University since October 1999. It is dedicated to publishing innovative work on iconography and other aspects of visual culture of the period up to 1600. Past articles have dealt with subjects as diverse as Byzantine fresco programs, Carolingian architectural diagrams, Jewish ritual images, and the iconography of Raphael. These topics are approached from an interdisciplinary, theoretical, or critical perspective by a range of established and emerging scholars. Reviews of published studies in iconography and art history are included in every volume.

Subscription Information
To subscribe to Studies in Iconography, please visit our website at wmich.edu/medievalpublications/journals/iconography/subscribesi

Libraries or institutions: $80 plus shipping
Individuals: $34.95 plus shipping

Submissions Welcome
The journal welcomes submissions on topics that relate to the visual culture of the period before 1600. Articles that take a cross-disciplinary or interdisciplinary approach to their subjects or that examine theories and methods of iconographic analysis and histories of representation from a critical perspective are especially welcome. All submissions will be evaluated by specialists via double-blind peer review, and decisions will be made expeditiously.

Further Information
To submit an article, please send digital files to Fiona Barrett (fionab@princeton.edu) or visit us at: ima.princeton.edu/studies-in-iconography-editorial-guidelines/

Editorial Advisory Board
Charles Barber, Princeton University; Annemarie Weyl Carr, Southern Methodist University, Emerita; Mark Cruse, Arizona State University; William Diebold, Reed College; Elina Gertsman, Case Western Reserve University; Eva Hoffman, Tufts University; Dale Kinney, Bryn Mawr College; Katrin Kogman-Appel, Ben Gurion University of the Negev and Westfälische Wilhelms-Universität, Münster; Mitchell Merback, The Johns Hopkins University; Eric Palazzo, Université de Poitiers; Beth Williamson, University of Bristol
STUDIES IN ICONOGRAPHY

Volume 41 (2020)
Margaret Goehring, “Signs of the City: Seigniorial Power and the Vernacular Visual Culture in Two Northern French Rent-Books”
Justin Willson, “Reading with the Evangelists: Portrait, Gesture, and Interpretation in the Byzantine Gospel Book”
David M. Freidenreich and Véronique Plesch, “What is That to Us? The Eucharistic Liturgy and Enemies of Christ in the Beam of the Passion”
Renata Bartal, “Text, Textile, Blood: Mary under the Cross in an Illuminated Meditationes Vitae Christi” (Oxford, Corpus Christi College, MS 410)
Louise Marshall, “St. Roch and the Angel in Renaissance Art”

Volume 40 (2019)
Dennis Trout, “Pictures with Words: Reading the Apse Mosaic of S. Agnese f.l.m. (Rome)”
Lucy Freeman Sandler, “Pictorial Typology and the Miniatures of the Peterborough Psalter in Brussels”
Patricia Blessing, “Weaving on the Wall: Architecture and Textiles at the Monastery of Las Huelgas in Burgos”
Theresa Flanigan, “Mona Lisa’s Smile: Interpreting Emotion in Renaissance Female Portraits”
Meryl Bailey, “Charity as Act and Allegory in Venetian Art”

Volume 39 (2018)
Maria G. Parani, “A Monument of His Own? An Iconographic Study of the Wall Paintings of the Holy Trinity Parekklesion at the Monastery of St. John Chrysostom, Koutsovendis (Cyprus)”
Nurith Kenaan-Kedar (1938–2015) and Gil Fishhof, “Patrons and Artists of the Sculptural Program of the Church of Saint-André-le-Bas: Meanings and Identities”
Elizabeth Lastra, “Judgment, Work, and Social Change: Reading a New Spirituality in the Sculpted Laborers of Santiago de Carrión de los Condes”
Sarit Shalev-Eyni, “Manipulating the Cup of Blessing: Gendered Reading of Ritual Images in European-Hebrew Books”

Back Issues
Volumes 15 and onwards are in stock and available through our website.
Volumes 36 (2016) and later: US$80 for institutions, $35 for individuals