CHRISTIANITIES BEFORE MODERNITY

Challenging the perception of Christianity as a unified and European religion before the sixteenth century, this series interrogates the traditional chronological, geographical, social, and institutional boundaries of premodern Christianity. Books in this series seek to rebuild the lived experiences and religious worlds of understudied people as well as landmark disputes and iconic figures by recovering underappreciated vernacular sources, situating localized problems and mundane practices within broader social contexts, and addressing questions framed by contemporary theoretical and methodological conversations. Christianities Before Modernity embraces an interdisciplinary and comparative approach, publishing on history, literature, music, theater, classics, folklore, art history, archaeology, religious studies, philosophy, gender studies, anthropology, sociology, and other areas. Grounded in original sources and informed by ongoing disciplinary disputes, this series demonstrates how premodern Christians comprised diverse and conflicted communities embedded in a religiously diverse world.

Geographical Scope
Afro-Eurasia and the Atlantic World

Chronological Scope
Medieval and early modern world

Keywords
Christianity; history of religions; longue durée; theory and method of medieval studies; global Middle Ages; interconnectivity; late antiquity; medieval and early modern studies

Further Information
For questions or to submit a proposal, please contact the acquisitions editor, Shannon Cunningham (shannon@smcunningham.com) or visit our website: www.wmich.edu/medievalpublications/books/christianities-modernity

Publishing with MIP
Books published with Medieval Institute Publications of Western Michigan University use literary, historical, and material sources and employ innovative and interdisciplinary approaches to what it has meant to be human through the ages. We value a diverse array of established and new voices in humanities research. MIP offers rapid turn-around times, the newest digital policies, and global distribution. Books are distributed worldwide through our publishing partner, De Gruyter.

Nativity, Gondarine Sensul; Ethiopian, late seventeenth century. The Walters Gallery: Walters Manuscript 36.10, f. 2r.

SERIES EDITORS
RABIA GREGORY
University of Missouri, Columbia

KATHLEEN E. KENNEDY
Pennsylvania State University, Brandywine

SUSANNA A. THROOP
Ursinus College

CHARLENE VILLASEÑOR BLACK
UCLA

SERIES ADVISORY BOARD
Adnan A. Husain, Queen’s University
István Perczel, Central European University
Eyal Poleg, Queen Mary University of London
Carl S. Watkins, Magdalene College, Cambridge