Paul and Phyllis Griffeth Endowed Student Affairs Scholarship for Outstanding Promise as a Student Affairs Professional

The Paul and Phyllis Griffeth Endowed Student Affairs Scholarship is selected by the HESA faculty and awarded to a student who demonstrates outstanding promise as a student as professional. As a master's student, individuals will demonstrate this potential for success in the profession by maintaining at least a 3.25 GPA, by fully participating in classes and representing the department well, by participating in student affairs activities and work while attending school, and by attending professional student affairs conferences. Students who demonstrate outstanding promise as student affairs professionals will take measured risks that hold the potential of expanding their skill sets and knowledge about students and working in higher education. Exceptional students will also engage in professional presentations, research and writing.
