The Margaret Macmillan Undergraduate Writing Award

The Margaret Macmillan writing award honors undergraduate papers of not more than 4000 words (excluding notes and bibliography). Submissions are unrestricted as to historical genre. Only papers prepared for courses taken or completed during the previous calendar year will be considered. The recipient of the Margaret Macmillan writing award receives a stipend of $250.

The deadline for submissions is February 10, 2017. Deliver this completed application and a hardcopy of your essay directly to the Undergraduate Advising Office (4452 Friedmann Hall); materials may also be dropped off in 4301 Friedmann Hall to the main office.
